Amara Dolce Vita is located on the shore overlooking Mount Tahtali, which is called Mount Olympus in mythology. With a height of 2 thousand 300 meters, this mountain is the third highest mountain nearest to the sea on earth.

It is one of the most important national parks in Europe. It is the home of a cat called Karakulak which lives only in Turkey in Europe as well as many endemic plant species. The coastal band where the hotel is located preferred by another rare species, the Mediterranean seal.

The hotel is located on the Lycian Way, which is among the 10 most important long-distance walking routes in the world. The moment you step out of the hotel, you can walk on the road to Lycia, the same road walked by Alexander the Great.

It is located between Olympos and Phaselis Ancient Cities. Just nearby is located Chimera, which is known as the place where the fire of the Olympic torch is first started breathing.
